TUESDAY, APRIL 22, 1817.

From London papers received at the Office of the N. York Daily Advertiser.

LONDON, Feb. 8.

At a late hour last night we received the Paris papers of Friday, but they do not contain much intelligence of interest. We have given extracts from them in another column. The French funds are within a mere fraction of 61. The weather throughout the whole of the Continent is described as being equally mild and favourable as in this country.

The Gallery of the House of Commons, and the avenues leading to it, were last night crowded with strangers, who had waited from an early hour, in the expectation of hearing the report of the Secret Committee, respecting the late disturbances. The Report so anxiously looked for, was not however, ready; but we understand it has been promised for to night. In the meantime, those who had visited the House from motives of curiosity, were not altogether disappointed; for Lord Cochrane and Mr. Brougham occupied the attention of the House with an interesting conversation, arising out of the subject of Parliamentary reform. The Noble Lord had previously, in a lecture upon reform, incurred the marked censure of the Speaker for emitting an opinion which we hope is peculiar to his Lordship. His objectionable expressions were, that "the people of Scotland not having any share in making the laws, were not bound to obey them." Nettled, perhaps, at the check which the exuberance of his genius received from the calm and dignified occupier of the Chair, his Lordship challenged Mr. Brougham to a sort of single combat in argument. The country has much reason to be satisfied with the noble and generous conduct of the latter gentleman; and the House of Commons collectively and individually has much reason to be proud of such an accession of talent and integrity. Alluding to a most indiscrete menance against the freedom of the debates in that House, which Lord Cochrane was pleased to indulge in, Mr. Brougham told his Lordship with manly intrepidity that if that offensive line of conduct was persisted in by his Lordship, he (Mr. Brougham) would feel it to be his duty to move, either that the public be excluded from all participation in the debates of their Representatives, or that the question of Parliamentary Reform should be dropped forever. It is thus, by intemperate advocates, that the cause of moderate and gradual reform will be ultimately lost.

On Saturday evening the Orontes frigate, capt. Cochrane, arrived at Portsmouth from the Mauritius, the Cape of Good Hope, and St. Helena. The Orontes left St. Helena on the 4th ult. and brings a full confirmation of the reports some time in circulation, of a restless spirit having broken out among Bonaparte's companions at St. Helena. Las Casas & his son had been expelled from the island, and had arrived at the Cape of Good Hope, in the Griffin sloop of war, when the Orontes left that settlement. The charges against Las Casas and his son are, for concerting an improper correspondence with persons of some notoriety in various parts of Europe, but more particularly in France. It was, however strongly suspected at St. Helena and the Cape, as we have already hinted to our readers, that Las Casas had no other object in view, but that of separating himself from Bonaparte, who had of late become so peevish and discontented, that all around him were kept in perpetual misery. As a proof of the correctness on which this surmise is founded, Las Casas actually refused to take leave of Bonaparte previous to his quitting St. Helena, although most pressingly invited and urged to this act of common civility.—It is supposed that Las Casas, whose habitual cunning and dexterity at dissimulation were never equalled, declined the parting interview, least any thing should occur to frustrate his fixed resolution of quitting a service, with which, from his appetite for intrigue, being completely baulked, he has long since had abundant reason to be disgusted.—Bonaparte was reported to be in bad health when the Orontes left St. Helena. He still obstinately adhered to his haughty resolution of not taking exercise within those limits which subjected him to the escort of a British Officer. His medical attendants have informed him in vain that his health would suffer from this privation of air and exercise.

The Orontes has bro't home from the Cape another of Bonaparte's attendants, a Pole, by the name of Piontowsky, not Poniatowsky, as the Public have been made to believe, in order to connect him with the celebrated Polish family of the latter name. This person has also been dubbed a Colonel by common fame, which is an honour to which he has no claim. He merely held the rank of Sub Lieut. in some obscure Polish regiment in Bonaparte's service, and he literally forced himself upon the British Government, who, giving credit to his story, gave him a passage to St. Helena, in a storeship which followed the Northumberland. On his landing at St. Helena, Bonaparte said he did not know him, and would not see him for many weeks. Some kind of distant acquaintance was, however, ultimately formed between them; but Monsieur Piontowski not finding the speculation upon which he went to St. Helena, at all profitable, or even agreeable, manoeuvered so as to get transmitted to the Cape, & from thence to Europe. We ought not to omit mentioning, that while Piontowski was occupied at St. Helena, a kind of under-plot was attempted in London by an Italian singer, to whom he was married a few days previous to his leaving Plymouth. This Lady displayed the most eager anxiety to follow her husband, and was incessant in her application to persons high in office to obtain that permission; but her visits were suddenly discontinued. On scrutinizing into the cause, it was discovered that Piontowski had communicated to her the failure of his own projects at St. Helena, and his intention to get back to Europe as soon as he could. So far he has succeeded to admiration.

On the above interesting subject the Hull Advertiser, received yesterday, contains the following confirmatory details:—

Extract of a letter from capt. Clifford, of the Prince Regent, of Hull, recently arrived in the Channel, to his father at that port;—I watered at St. Helena, being only allowed to come to an anchor and not permitted to go on shore, or have any communication with the island. A frigate then under way was ordered to supply us with water, and as soon as that was done we were ordered by the Admiral to sail immediately, and not to lay-to until we were out of sight of the island.—They take great care of Bonaparte. The Officers told us he seldoms leaves his house, and is very much dissatisfied with his situation, as also with the allowance. Las Casas had been detected in attempting a clandestine correspondence with some people in Paris, through the medium of a Lady in London. A letter had been detected in the lining of a black boy's jacket written on very fine silk, in cyphers, the contents as yet unknown, for the want of a key. Las Casas was removed and confined as a close prisoner. Bonaparte a few days before, in a fit of spleen, had cut up a quantity of plate and sold it, under pretence that his allowance was not enough.

If he escapes from this place, there is no other in which he would be secure; four vessels of war continually cruise round the island; no fishing boats are allowed to be out after sunset, and all have a ticket given them in the morning, which they must produce every night. In fact, if he escapes from thence, he must be something more than man."

The "lady in London," alluded to in the above letter, we suspect to be madame, or rather signora Piontowski.

When the Orontes left the cape, lord C Somerset was preparing for a journey into the interior, for the purpose of making some arangements with the Caffres, who, since the reduction of the Cape Militia, had become very troublesome to our frontiers. Sir P. Malcolm had returned to St. Helena; the New Castle and Phaeton were left there at anchor; the Podargus and Euridice were cruizing off the Island; the Spey was at the cape; the Racoon at Tristah Cunha. The Orontes spoke the Charles Grant, on the line, 110 days from Madras. The first battalions of the 52d and 66th regiments were daily expected to arrive at St. Helena, from India, when they would be made effective from the 2d battalions, and the surplus officers and men of these battalions sent home. The Phaeton and Spey are expected to return home. The Orontes, it is said, is to go to the Leithe station, in the place of the late Meander.

The French frigate Galatea, capt. Moncabrier, which cruises in the Levant seas, for the protection of the French Merchantmen, has captured a noted pirate, named Tranpopulo, and six of his companions. These wretches, last year, treated in a most barbarous manner the French agent and his family, in the Isle of Argentier. Count Montcabrier kept the ringleader on board, with the intention of carrying him to France to be punished. He sent the others to Smyrna—An English cruisers had taken, on the coast of the Morea, another pirate, named Cattramattro.

The new French Governor of the Isle of Bourbon, the Baron de Richmont, has been for some time in London, negotiating with the Board of Trade on the subject of the future commercial intercourse between the Isle of France and the Isle of Bourbon. We are happy to say, that arrangements have been made on the terms of reciprocal advantage. In future British vessels may go to the Isle of Bourbon, first landing and then re-loading their cargoes at the Isle of France, on payment of 8 per cent. at Bourbon, in addition to the French duties already existing there. The same arrangement, mutatis mutandes, is to extend to French vessels trading with the Isle of France.

Accounts from Berlin of the 28th of January, state, that the grand duke Nicholis will return to that city from London about the end of this month. The time of his marriage with the Princess Charlotte of Prussia is not exactly fixed.

BRANCH BANKS. A report is circulated, for the truth of which we cannot vouch, that the bank of England has obtained the sanction of Government to a plan for the establishment of Branch banks in various districts of the country.

The merchants of Trieste alone lose 250,500 florins by this failure.

PHENOMENA.

From the period that spots have appeared on the sun, Phenomena have continued to multiply themselves Without mentioning the disorder of the season and the temperature, the sudden melting of the eternal snows of Tyrol, of Switzerland, and of Jura, the unexpected spring which has already clad those countries with verdure, and even brought back the nightingales to their bowers, we cannot refrain from pointing out as remarkable occurrences; 1st The irregularities and extraordinary contradictions of Barometers. 2dly, The deviations of the needle. 3dly the tide, which according to intel igence from Italy, is now fell for the first time in the Adriatic, and we may add the nothern lights, which have blazed over the French Metropolis, for a whole fortnight, in a manner attended with peculiarities never before observed. Let us also rank among the phenomona of the times, the silence of the learned on all these subjects. French Paper.

BOSTON, April 14.

Singular Phenomenon.—We have received the following certified statement from the officers and passengers on board the Only Son, arrived here this forenoon from Norfolk.

"On the 3d instant, at 9, P. M. Cape Henry lights bearing W. by S. about 7 leagues distant, the mate's watch on deck, he heard strange noises in the air, with distant thunder and lightning, black clouds rising at the same time from the north, he thought it prudent to call all hands on deck, although it was nearly calm at the time. On coming on deck, every one beheld the main-top mast apparently all on fire, the fire descending down the main top mast stay to the fore-mast head and thence down the jib stays, with a large blaze at jib boom end; at the same time the fire came trickling down the main topmast and ran across the fore and aft stay to the fore mast head, and also decended down the main top mast lift to the outer end of the main boom—all sails were down to the booms—but the apearance of fire aloft encreasing, all on board were fearful of a consuming fire, but the clouds arose from the N. attended with lightning thunder and rain, and these firey appearances, (the duration of which was 30 minutes, and which had had spread almost all over the rigging, though not quite to the decks were extinguished and no damage done. The above phenomenon was the more alarming, from the great hissing noise attendant, like throwing fish into a pan of hot fat, attended with snapping, (similar to those from oyster shells in a hot fire,) and with sparks flying therefrom in every direction to the distance of two or three feet from the spars and rigging aloft.

The above account has been certified by the officers and passengers on board the Only Son, with a wish that some of our philosophers would explain the phenomonon. It is a somewhat similar appearance to the case related by a Mr. Merrit in Vermont.

NEW-YORK, April 16.

Highly interesting law case.—Yesterday came on for trial before his honor the mayor, at the court of general sessions of the peace for this city and county, an indictment found at the same court, against Isaac Roget, (the only defendant taken) for uniting with J. B. Daulmery (of the house of Hutchinson and Daulmery) and P. Lefevre* in a conspiracy to defraud the underwriters. This cause from the nature of the transaction, and particularly, from the standing in society of Isaac Roget, for many years a French merchant in this city, and generally considered here a man of respectability, excited more interest than any one that has taken place for many years. The trial began at 11 o'clock A. M. and lasted till 4 this morning; more than 17 hours. The following are the principal facts that appeared in evidence:

The sch. Ocean, being in France† and up at Havre-de-Grace, in December last for Boston, and the defendant being in this city, with others here, and some persons abroad, entered into a conspiracy to make a false insurance upon her and her cargo, consisting, as they stated, of dry goods and plaister of paris, but being in reality of stones and rubbish; and actually insured 18,000 dollars here, 10,000 in Boston, 30,000 in Paris, besides other sums in London and elsewhere, and then caused her to be sunk at sea. It appeared, however, that the piece of roguery from which they calculated to derive the greatest profit, was from an ingenious deception practised upon the custom-house at Havre. This deception was managed in the following manner: They first entered at the custom-house, say 30 boxes of goods, amounting to thirty thousand dollars, and procured the necessary stamps upon the boxes; but, then, instead of putting the boxes on board, they only carried them to some private place, where they removed the goods into other similar boxes, provided for the purpose, and supplied their place in the stamped boxes, with rubbish of the same weight; which was so ingeniously done, by splicing the ropes, &c. as to elude suspicion. These boxes were then put on board the schooner, as so many boxes of dry goods, with the custom-house stamp, which secured them from all further inspection. Having thus succeeded with the first 30 boxes, they filled a second thirty with the same goods which had once been entered, and a second time procured the stamp of the custom-house; then, a second time, they removed these boxes to some private place, where they in like manner rifled them of their genuine contents, and filled them with stones, as before, they closed them neatly up again, and shipped them on board. In this way they repeated the deception on the custom-house, until they had obtained its stamp upon 98 boxes of stones, and shipped them on board as dry goods. Having thus loaded the schooner, their next step was to provide for the lives of the innocent and unsuspecting crew, when the vessel should go to the bottom. For which purpose, they procured a clinker-built boat, sufficient to hold them all, with provisions and other necessaries; and, thus equipped, they wrote to their friends in this country on account of their success, that they might do the needful, at the different insurance offices; and then set out upon their voyage.

After meeting with some rough weather, which caused them to delay the execution of their purpose, for fear of their lives, they, at length, after abortive attempts, which failed through the vigilance and activity of the mate, succeeded in scuttling her, in a smooth sea, on the 25th of February, about 9 in the evening, in lat. 26, 30, N. long, W. 60, 10, when they shaped their course for the nearest land, which was the Bahama Islands, distant about 500 miles, and arrived at Nassau the 3d March.

R. H. Wolcott, the mate, who was not let into the secret, swore that the first time the alarm was given, that the vessel was sinking, he exerted himself, contrary to the remonstrance of Favours, and succeeded in getting a sail under the bottom, by means of which, they were able to clear her hold of water, so that he could examine the leak; when he found her bottom bored with auger holes, which he plugged; but that advantages was taken of his being aloft with most of the crew, to bore others in another place, which was the cause of her sinking. But the principal witness in the cause was Lefevre himself, one of the conspirators, and acquainted with the whole transaction from its origin, through all the steps of its progress down to the present time. The testimony which this man, who discovered a great share of intelligence, gave, was so clear, so consistent, never involving himself in contradiction, or even discovering the least embarrassment, though closely and severely cross-examined by able counsel, that he commanded universal belief.

It ought to be mentioned that the person the conspirators first attempted to corrupt, was one J. A. Durssean, a Frenchman, who seems to have listened to the proposals, but upon reflection, not only refused to be concerned, but disclosed the meditated fraud to Mr. W. Lovett, of this town, in July last, to F. Depau, and to several insurance companies in Boston. In the course of the trial, facts came out that induced strong suspicions that the defendant and some others had long been engaged in similar frauds, particularly in the sinking of the brig Mary some years ago.

The counsels in this highly interesting case were, Messrs. Emmet, Hoffman, on the part of the insurance company, and Fisk, U. S. D. attorney, and Maxwell, D. A. for the state, and for the defendant, Colden and D. B. Ogden. We were not present, but understand there was a great display of bar eloquence on both sides on the occasion.

The jury retired about half past four o'clock this morning, and returned into court just after five with a verdict of GUILTY.

Mr. Roget's amiable wife and sister, together with five or six children were present the whole time. The sight of these two highly interesting & wretched females, and one of them, Mrs. R. in a situation of all others the most affecting, surrounded too by her children, could not fail to create so powerful an effect on the minds of the court and jury, that nothing short of the most satisfactory testimony, and a due sense of the stern obligations they were under, could have produced his conviction.

N. B. The names of others concerned with Roget, but who are absent, or not yet arrested, are, from prudential motives, concealed.

P. S.—N. B. We understand that certain men were offered Mr. Recorder as Roget's bail, but he happened to postpone taking them until the next day, and in the mean time the case was taken out of his jurisdiction, by an indictment found, while a court was sitting. Ev. Post.

*Commonly called Peter Favours.

†The conspiracy began a twelvemonth sooner, just before the Ocean left this country.

NEW-YORK, April 17.

The British Packet Francis Freeling, Cunningham, with the February mail, arrived at this port last evening, in 31 days from Falmouth, Eng. and 9 days from the Island of Bermuda. By this arrival, the Editors of the Commercial Advertiser are furnished with London papers to the 19th of February, 8 days later than were before received. We have also the London Shipping and Commercial Lists to the 10th of February.

Ten thousand British troops, from France, arrived in England on the 27th of February, the day on which the packet sailed.

Corn Exchange, Feb. 17.—We had but a moderate supply of wheat this morning from Kent and Essex, and none from an other part; which occasioned ready sale for fine samples at last Monday's prices; but the inferior qualities cannot be got off on any terms. Barley is full 3s. per quarter lower than on this day week, but rather better sale than on Friday. Old corn goes off freely, owing to the demand for shipping; but new continues unsaleable. In peas, beans, and other articles, there is no alteration.

Capt. Israel Robinson and Mr. Archibald Porterfield, elected.

On Monday, the 29th instant, the election takes place in Jefferson County (the last in the district)—Mr. Colston will go to that county with a majority of 298 over Mr. Morgan. In Jefferson Mr. Colston's majority will, probably, be increased, be that as it may, no doubt now remains of our being favoured with the services of a gentleman, in the next congress of the U. Riot at New-Orleans.—A gentleman, who was an eye witness, has given us the following particulars of a riot which took place at New Orleans on the afternoon of the 18th ult. at the Levee. A captain of an English ship, which was loading at New Orleans for a foreign port, thought proper to attach to each weather-cock, at each mast head, a very small tri-colored pendant, emblematic, as was supposed, of the fickleness of the French nation.—The day previous to the riot the ship was assaulted by some French seamen, and the English captain was warned of impending danger, and entreated to haul down the colors; but he thought (as he said) his honor implicated in the thing, and was determined to keep them up at every hazard—The day following, at five in the afternoon, another party of French seamen assembled before the ship and again commenced their abuse by throwing stones, &c. The mayor made his appearance among them, and finally prevailed upon them to retire without using force. In the mean time the English captain armed his crew with boarding pikes, boat hooks and clubs: removed the planks of the stage which was constructed from the levee to his ship, and left nothing but the rafters, which supported them; brought his men to face the levee, and stood on his defence. The French seamen soon returned armed with sabres and pistols, and in defiance of all that the mayor could say or do, proceeded to board the ship. The English sailors shewed a good front until they discovered they were contending with fearful odds, when they threw down their weapons and retreated. The rioters then rushed on board, shot one of the English sailors dead, & sabred four or five others, one dangerously, the others slightly.—They then proceeded to tear down the offensive tri-colored pendants, cut the rigging and masts, threw several things overboard, and damaged the ship to the amount of from 1500 to 2000 dollars.—A battalion of the U. S. troops, under the command of General Ripley, then made their appearance, and the rioters dispersed with such precipitance, that only three could be come up with and secured. The captain of the English ship escaped unhurt. When he found he was likely to be overpowered by the mob, he retreated to the cabin and locked himself in.

Despatch in printing.—A new novel lately received from England, entitled "THE PASTOR'S FIRESIDE," by Miss Porter, in two volumes, making together 628 close printed pages, was put into the hands of the printers on Wednesday morning, and delivered by them complete to the bookseller on Tuesday morning following, in time to permit him to offer it for sale by 6 o'clock; a little over four days and an half; a despatch in the line of our profession seldom equalled.—*N. The Paradise of Coquettes,

A POEM, in nine Parts.
A second edition of this elegant Poem is just published and for sale by the Subscribers.
The character of this Poem is thus given by the Quarterly and Edinburgh Reviewers:—
The Paradise of Coquettes;
The character in which the poet professes to speak, is that of the POET OF WOMAN. He is supposed to be addressing woman, and woman only, and addressing her, 'on adventures of which she is the heroine, and on charms and graces, which it is the whole history of her beauty to have exercised with failure or success.'
His incontestible merits, and the assiduous care which he has bestowed upon the poem, deserve the warmest praise.
Quarterly Review, Oct. 1814.
We have here a little volume which may be fairly regarded as a prodigy in this age of quarto ballads, romances, heroics, and sentimental simplicity. It is by far the best and most brilliant imitation of Pope, that has appeared since the time of that great writer; with all his point, polish, and nicely balanced versification, as well as his sarcasm and witty malice. He is always at home—always lively and entertaining.
His satire is polished and yet pungent.
His versification, in particular, is almost invariably flowing & harmonious.
Edinburgh Review, Feb. 1815.
"A vein of polite irony runs through the 'Paradise of Coquettes' which was familiar to the writers of the age of Anne and George the First, but has been discarded in making other modern improvements, by our cotemporaries."

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York,

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to cary off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold it taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and perfectly in It contains nothing but what is constitution. nocent, and is also mild in its operation cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.
And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face heated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of chint"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys the hands of the infant part of our citizens it is likewise the mildest and most certain emedy known, and has restered to health and strength a great number, when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint.
